

NATION'S FIRES LOW IN PINCH OF COAL SHORTAGE

President Deals with Peace Time Measures

COUNCIL ACTS ON CITY PLAN COMMISSION

ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR COMMITTEE OF SEVEN PRESENTED.

DISCUSSES COAL

Mayor Warns Aldermen to Be Ready to Meet at Emergency Call.

Introduction of an ordinance to provide for the election and appointment of a city plan commission, seven members, was the Greater Janesville feature of the council meeting last night. The ordinance was given its first and second readings and laid over until the next meeting for a vote.

In addition to discussing the proposed ordinance, councilmen discussed the vote on petition to close Center street; discussed the coal shortage; talked street work and garbage collection, and granted a request to install four new "silent policemen" in the business district without cost to the city. The usual routine business was transacted in record time.

Commission of Seven.

The city plan ordinance was introduced and explained by City Attorney Roger C. Cunningham as being in accordance with the revised state statutes. The plan is to have a commission made up of seven members, including the mayor, city engineer, one councilman, and four citizens, having the power to investigate proposed public beautification schemes with a view to reporting back to the council for action.

The commission would have power to initiate and investigate public projects of all kinds including the widening of streets, establishment of more parks, erection of monuments, memorials, and community buildings, widening of streets, and laying out of boulevards, all of these things to be necessarily approved by the council. The commission would have power to initiate and investigate public projects of all kinds including the widening of streets, establishment of more parks, erection of monuments, memorials, and community buildings, widening of streets, and laying out of boulevards, all of these things to be necessarily approved by the council.

The matter of naming the seven members was outlined by Mr. Cunningham with the explanation that the mayor and city engineer would be constant members; the council to elect a representative for mayor to elect two-thirds of the commission. The fourth member would be the president of the board of fire wardens, and the fifth member would be the president of the board of fire wardens, and the fifth member would be the president of the board of fire wardens.

Consider Street Closing.
Upon motion of Alderman J. J. Dulin the council decided to vote on the Samson Trucking company's petition to close Center street from Franklin street east to the river, one and one-half blocks.

U. S. PEACE DELEGATES POSTPONE SAILING

PARIS, Dec. 2.—The American delegation to the peace conference which was to have sailed from Brest for the United States Dec. 3, has postponed its departure for home, it was learned today.

A considerable part of the personnel of the delegation, however, will arrive in Paris for the conference on December 5, as previously arranged.

Changes in the plans of the delegation are due, it is asserted, to the failure of the Germans to sign the protocol ratifying the peace treaty. It is possible that if the treaty is not signed, the situation between Germany and the United States, as well as the other allied and associated powers, goes back to the status created by the armistice.

Prisoners Held in Close Confinement Is Reported

Dijon, France, Nov. 30.—Germany still retains French prisoners of war in close confinement, it is claimed by Louis Boucher, a French volunteer, who was taken prisoner in 1918, and returned to his home here today.

He declares that he with two comrades was tried before a court martial for attempting to escape, and was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment in a fortress. The French mission from Berlin, which visited the camp, found the prisoners, according to Boucher, several prisoners in solitary confinement and had them released.

Trappers Make Big Money In Furs; Boys Earn $55

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Trappers in the Adirondack region, due to the unprecedented high prices paid for furs, are making from $300 to $500 a week and some school boys have made as much as $55 a week by trapping during spare time.

Fall River Cotton Mill Strikers Back at Work

Fall River, Mass., Dec. 2.—Cotton mill operatives who struck yesterday for a 25 percent increase in wages returned to work today, having accepted a compromise offer of 12 1/2 percent.

SOUTH DAKOTA'S CHOICE?

Major General Leonard Wood.

Major General Wood was prominent among candidates for endorsement by the state republican convention at Pierre, S. Dak., today for the presidential nomination. General Wood was commander of the department of the east when the United States declared war on Germany. He was then in Europe, and his name was suggested by the state republican convention at Pierre, S. Dak., today for the presidential nomination.

CITY TO BUY COKE TO RELIEVE HOMES AND FIRMS IN NEED

Decision of the city to purchase 200 tons of coke for immediate delivery here for distribution among families and business houses destitute of fuel, and the release of one carload of bituminous coal to the city, are the latest steps in the most encouraging developments in the critical coal situation in Janesville today.

Purchase of the coke through the offer of George S. Parker was readily approved by Mayor T. E. Welsh as a means of affording immediate relief for the existing emergency. The city later, today, has postulated an emergency plan, more serious unless the mines resume operations. Definite arrangements for the distribution of the fuel have not been made, but the city has agreed to the plan. The lowest possible price will be made on it.

Officials Are Optimistic.
News that the city had the opportunity to buy eight carloads of coke came as a godsend today, making officials optimistic that Janesville might weather the winter without serious suffering and hardship.

Mr. Parker received a letter this morning from a friend, J. H. McManaman, superintendent-manager of the city later, today, has postulated an emergency plan, more serious unless the mines resume operations. Definite arrangements for the distribution of the fuel have not been made, but the city has agreed to the plan. The lowest possible price will be made on it.

Conditions Grow Tighter.
All dealers but one reported nothing new on the situation today except that conditions were growing "tighter" with no more fuel in sight. Pressure was brought to bear on the city later, today, has postulated an emergency plan, more serious unless the mines resume operations. Definite arrangements for the distribution of the fuel have not been made, but the city has agreed to the plan. The lowest possible price will be made on it.

Number of Autos Increased.
Madison—Expectations on automobiles for Wisconsin are being far surpassed by actual figures developed by the secretary of the state. The total licenses issued this year are 226,073 for automobiles, 10,386 for trucks. Last year the total was 200,000 for automobiles and 7,000 for trucks. The year before the total was 183,000. The revenue is $10 for each automobile and $10 to $25 for each truck, according to size, so that the total is more than $2,300,000.

Wedding Business Booms.
Stevens Point—Not a time in the history of Portage county has as many weddings taken place as during the week preceding Thanksgiving. Weddings were celebrated in practically every township, and automobile loads of merry-makers motored from their homes to Stevens Point each day to have their pictures taken. The number of licenses issued for the month broke all records. A few of the young people were from Stevens Point, but a majority reside in rural communities.

ANNUAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS URGES BUDGET SYSTEM

PEACE TREATY DISCUSSION TO BE TAKEN UP AT LATER DATE.

TARIFF EXPLAINED

Simplification of Income and Excess Profits Taxes Is Recommended.

Washington, Dec. 2.—General recommendations on legislation to combat the cost of living, labor unrest, radicalism and the adjustment of the nation to peace-time basis were the features of President Wilson's annual message to congress delivered today.

The peace treaty, the president told congress, will be discussed in a separate message later, as will the railroad question.

For the present time only, since the president established the practice of addressing congress in person, his message was read today by the clerks.

Making Special Recommendations.
The president's principal recommendations were:

Establishment of a budget system for the national finances. Reorganization of the taxation system with simplification of the income and excess profits.

Readjustment of the tariff system, if necessary, to meet changed world conditions and make the system conform with the fact that the United States is "the greatest capitalist in the world."

Recognition and relief for veteran soldiers of the world war. Proper measures to foster the development of the way of government farms as proposed by Secretary Lane.

An enlarged program for rural education, including recognition of the farmer's part in the war. Measures which "will remove the causes" of "political restlessness" and "unrest."

Refers to Peace Treaty.
At this point the president made his most extensive reference to the peace treaty by saying the causes for the unrest "are superficial, rather than deep, and that they are connected with the failure of our government to arrive speedily at a just and permanent position on the transference of radical theories from seething European centers pending such delay, from heartless profiteering, and from the cost of the cost of living, and lastly from the machinations of passionate and malevolent agitators. With the return to normal conditions this unrest will rapidly disappear."

The president renewed his recommendations for legislation to deal effectively with "these persons who violate the laws of our government, our time-tested institutions."

Renews Old Recommendations.
Several recommendations, some renewals of past ones, were made by the president to bring down the cost of living. Among them were extension of the food control law to peace times.

Emergency regulations for transportation of foods in interstate commerce; a cold storage law modeled after the law in New Jersey; a law requiring the showing of information on the storage of food in cold storage; and a law to secure "competitive selling and prevent unconscionable profits by federal license of cold storage selling food in interstate commerce."

A long portion of the message was devoted to a discussion of the condition and rights of labor.

FIFIELD CO. WILL BUILD PLANING MILL

Immediate erection of a one-story, concrete planing mill on the east side of North High street between Wall and West Bluff streets was announced today by the Fifield Lumber company. The new mill will provide 1,000 square feet of floor space in addition to the present facilities of the planing mill.

Construction will be commenced immediately, permission having been granted by the council last night. The building will be 70 by 100 feet in dimensions. The planing mill will be a one-story building, with a saw pit and a planing mill. The building will be a one-story building, with a saw pit and a planing mill.

SOUTHERNER TO BUY ROCK COUNTY CATTLE

An exodus of negro and other labor from Louisiana and other states to the south to cities where wages are higher and hours shorter has done much to make the sugar crop of the south 80 percent of normal this year, said H. C. Fonderer, county agent of Jennings, La., to a reporter this afternoon. Mr. Fonderer is in Janesville endeavoring to purchase two carloads of cattle for his state.

Speaking about cattle, Mr. Fonderer said that the breeders in his locality are buying more and more from northern states where they can find excellent stock. The one thing which has handicapped cattle raising in some counties of Louisiana, he stated, is ticks which get into the hide of the animals and cause fever. The only way to get rid of them is by giving them baths that will kill them. It generally takes a district two years to rid a district of the pestilence, he explained.

Villa's Swoop Leaves Only Two of Regiment

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 2.—General Santo Sanchez, commander of the 10th regiment of Mexican federal troops, was reported missing with 673 of his command of 673 with whom he had boasted that he would "beat" Francisco Villa, when that bandit chieftain with 1,000 followers in revenge for the execution of General Felipe Angeles swooped down on the federalists at Rancho Epajito and massacred them.

WILSON'S MESSAGE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 2.—President Wilson's message delivered to congress today is as follows:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives: I sincerely regret that I cannot be present at the opening of this session of the congress. I am thus prevented from presenting in as direct a way as I could wish the many questions that are pressing for solution at this time. Happily, I have had the advantage of the advice of the heads of the several executive departments who have kept in close touch with affairs in their detail and whose thoughtful recommendations I earnestly second.

"In the matter of the railroads and the re-adjustment of their affairs growing out of federal control, I shall take the liberty at a later date of addressing you.

"I hope that congress will bring to a conclusion at this session, legislation looking to the establishment of a budget system. That there should be one single authority responsible for the making of all appropriations and that appropriations should not be made independently of each other, but with reference to one single comprehensive plan of expenditure properly related to the budget, is one of the most important questions of the day. I believe the burden of preparing the budget must, in the nature of the case, if the work is to be properly done, be placed on the executive, instead of divided, rest upon the executive. The budget so prepared should be submitted to and approved by the congress, except such minor adjustments as may be made by the executive or added by the particular committee of congress charged with the budget legislation.

Traps Economic Spending.
"Another and not less important aspect of the problem is the ascertainment of the economy of the government. With the moneys appropriated are expended. Under existing law the only audit is for the purpose of ascertaining whether the moneys have been lawfully made within the appropriations. No one is authorized or equipped to ascertain whether the moneys have been lawfully made within the appropriations. No one is authorized or equipped to ascertain whether the moneys have been lawfully made within the appropriations. No one is authorized or equipped to ascertain whether the moneys have been lawfully made within the appropriations.

Japan Looks to U. S. in Bolshevik Trouble.
Tokio, Friday, Nov. 28.—The eastward march of bolshevik forces in Siberia has become a serious problem for Japan, which will probably soon be discussed with the American government. The convention by which the allies have agreed to divide Siberia may be threatened by bolshevism and the interests of law and order in China, Manchuria, and the Russian Pacific coast may be seriously threatened.

Fishermen Lose Nets in Early Freeze-Up.
Green Bay, Dec. 2.—Losses estimated at $100,000 have been suffered by the fishermen operating in Green Bay due to the early unexpected freeze-up, according to reports from the fishermen. Nets in the ice cannot be recovered unless weather should moderate enough to break up the ice so boats can go in search of them.

Storms Destroy Nets.
Sturgeon Bay, Dec. 2.—Fishermen from Sturgeon Bay and vicinity have lost thousands of dollars in the last month. The severe storms and winds have destroyed great numbers of nets, and practically everyone engaged in the business has had losses. It is estimated that the loss to Sturgeon Bay fishermen alone is $15,000.

WOOD IS FAVORED FOR PRESIDENT BY G. O. P. IN DAKOTA

(By Associated Press.)

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 2.—A three ring political arena was thrown open here today to receive the denunciations of office seekers, from candidates for president of the United States to solicitors for minor state jobs.

Three state conventions held simultaneously in the state capital city brought not only one of the greatest gatherings of South Dakota politicians in history to Pierre, but also attracted a number of national political leaders.

The fact that each convention was to nominate candidates for United States senator, congress, and state offices, was overshadowed by the fact that the republican and democratic conventions might endorse candidates for president.

Despite the fact that some minority delegates of the republican party had made sharp fights for other candidates, it was considered certain that the republican majority was ready to endorse Major General Leonard Wood for the presidential nomination. The democrats decided to endorse President Wilson for a third term if he decided to bid for re-election. Further endorsement action by the democrats would be contingent upon the attitude of the president, it was understood.

MYSTERY OF TRUNK DEATH FOLLOWED

(By Associated Press.)

Lawton, Mich., Dec. 2.—County authorities, having established to their satisfaction that the body found Sunday jammed in a trunk in the basement of the home of Mrs. L. A. Tabor, is that of Miss Maud Tabor, who disappeared nearly four years ago, today expected to determine the cause of the woman's death. Dr. A. S. Warthen, dean of the pathological department of the University of Michigan, and a noted authority on post mortem, will examine the body.

While the police of several western cities have been requested to assist in locating the whereabouts of Mrs. L. A. Tabor and Walter Tabor, mother and brother of the dead woman, the authorities here detained Mrs. Elwood Tabor, Critchlow, a sister of Maud Tabor, and Mrs. Walter Tabor, as material witnesses. Questioning of Mrs. Walter Tabor is being continued.

According to the authorities she told them Maud Tabor died and was buried in Colorado Springs. She said she had seen an obituary notice in Oregon last week, but she did not know just where.

HOMES PREPARE TO ENDURE PRIVATION; INDUSTRIES CLOSE

MOST EXTENSIVE SHUT-DOWN IN HISTORY IS IN PROSPECT TO DAY.

MINERS ARE FIRM

Volunteer Workers Aid Kansas Production; Few Pits Busy.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Restrictions on the use of coal already put into effect by regional coal committees where the pinch of necessity had been felt today were extended throughout the nation under an order of the federal fuel administrator. The most extensive shutdown of industry in history was in prospect and domestic consumers were preparing to endure privation and discomfort as the strike of bituminous coal miners entered its second month.

Only in Kansas, where volunteers worked in the strip pits under protection of state and federal troops, and in the New River fields of West Virginia was there prospect today of increased production. In the former even pits were worked and in West Virginia operators said normal production was in sight by the end of the week.

Throughout the remainder of the country, however, miners apparently remained steadfast in their determination not to return to work under the 14 percent wage increase ordered by the federal government and accepted by the operators.

Labor Troubles Threaten.
In Wyoming new labor troubles threatened to decrease the small amount of coal being brought out. Members of the railroad brotherhood here permitted their picket lines to act on a resolution passed last night to request authority to refuse to handle coal mined by non-union workers.

Under the sweeping order of Fuel Administrator Garfield, limiting delivery of fuel or power only to essential categories, although the war priorities list, curtailment of production was in prospect in many factories.

Theater and amusement places, and all other places of amusement faced complete shutdown. Churches and schools also were included in that category, although the latter were being made to postpone closing schools as long as possible.

Bakeries Under Ban.
Bakeries, except those producing only bread, also fell under the ban, as did confectionaries and certain packing houses.

In some of those industries, however, an immediate shutdown might be forestalled if the regional coal committees permitted the shipment of fuel to the mines to operate until their present supply of fuel was exhausted.

Many operators today believed that work in the mines would be resumed under inducement of the increased wage scale and the government and public appeal. On the other hand, John J. Gurnea, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared the situation was unchanged as far as the miners were concerned.

Despite low temperatures that have spread over the west for the past few days but little actual snowing because of the fuel shortage today had been reported. In Nebraska, where near zero weather prevailed, Kilgore had been without coal 10 days.

Montana Towns Suffer

(By Associated Press.)

Large towns in Montana were the chief sufferers. In the western part of the state the forests furnished winter fuel, and the small cities and towns were provided fuel by the lignite mines. Western Kansas, also without coal several days, had been provided with fuel by the lignite mines. The situation was unchanged as far as the miners were concerned.

Paris, Dec. 2.—The supreme council today decided that the question of Fiume should not be settled by the Hungarian peace treaty but be reserved for final decision by the allied powers. HAVE WE THE MAN?

After the close of the war of 1812 there came a period in our national affairs known in history as "the era of good feeling." The people were contented and prosperous. Internal improvements went on rapidly, trade and commerce grew.

Well may we wish today for another such era. Instead of good feeling we have spite and distrust. The mad scramble for the main chance makes us heedless of those trampled underfoot. The senate fiddles while Europe burns. We hug the delusion that Europe's fires are not of concern of ours, and deem it our happy privilege to fiddle if we please.

Mention to us that the franc is now worth ten cents and that the English pound sterling is worth less than $4, and we are apt to give you a glassy stare and ask, "Well, what of it?" We take it as a compliment to the American dollar to reach a point of such superiority. The weakness and distress of nations whose money is thus depreciating disturbs us no whit. Some day we may awake with a jolt to the realization that our foreign trade must languish when other people's money can exert only a sadly diminished purchasing power here. But we shall not care until our pockets suffer.

The senate and the president defy each other. With such an example before them, is it strange that the coal miners defy the public as coal stocks vanish, refusing to work until they get a wage scale, that they like?

While we groan under taxes and high living costs, we learn from Mr. McAdoo that the coal operators made huge war profits, and now we observe that the operators would like to perpetuate this profit-taking by passing on to consumers the amount of the anticipated wage increases.

The pendulum swings back and forth. For a while, during the war, we were generous, self-sacrificing, kindly disposed. Now we are selfish, grasping, obstinate, cold, harsh.

The man who can institute a regime that will bring us out of this wilderness into a new era of good feeling will be hailed as a national deliverer. Is there such a man? By any chance shall we have an opportunity to elevate him to the presidency, and thus regain our lost prestige abroad and our normal spirit of tolerance at home?

THE COME-BACK OF SILVER.

The advance in the price of silver bullion to a point where the silver dollar possesses a value substantially equal to that of gold has had an effect in countries on a silver basis that has relieved them of some of the troubles that have beset nations on a gold standard.

While prices the world over have advanced until they have doubled, approximately, the silver in the coinage of such countries as India, China and Mexico has kept pace with the advances, so that in the markets of the world the silver dollar retains substantially the same purchasing power because, in our point of view, silver has gone upward in price, though a Hindoo or Chinaman might express just the opposite idea and say gold has gone down.

By this movement of silver, countries on a silver basis should be able to profit enormously, since it has been but recently that the dollar that now almost exactly balances a gold dollar in bullion value bought less than half so much of goods value, measured by the gold standard.

The situation also will have the effect of enabling those countries to recoup some of the losses sustained by them when their currency was depreciating in the markets of the world.

When in the campaign of 1895 this nation voted against a silver basis the producers of silver felt that that metal had received a death blow. Their dream of a government market for their product at $1.29 an ounce was shattered and it was believed that the white metal would not again reach the price that would maintain it on a parity with gold at 16 to 1.

That the war should give rise to an extraordinary demand for silver to meet the payments for supplies in silver money countries is an instance of the effect of the whirlwind of time in re-establishing that which was thought down and out. Silver, being only a commodity in the greater nations of the earth, may not long preserve its present prominence, but it is at least a curious fact that the less enlightened countries should thus profit at the expense of those nations that adopted the gold standard because less subject to fluctuations and because silver was too cheap.

MISTREATING THE TREATY.

Most well-intentioned folk, regardless of party, will hope that Senator Lodge really did not mean it when he said that he would carry the peace treaty into the 1920 campaign and make it a political issue.

In the first place, we do not want to let peace wait a year in order that it may be made the subject of a political combat. That would not be good patriotism or good statesmanship. Further, there are plenty of republicans who favor a league of nations and a treaty with moderate reservations who want to vote their party ticket a year hence without voting against the treaty.

We already stand in a bad light in the eyes of other nations, and we have suffered even in self-respect because of the way the treaty has been held up. How would history regard an attempt to drag it along un-

GETTING READY FOR CHRISTMAS.

Here's the old day slipping out of the way
And the kiddies are talking about Christmas day.
Now the home's full of whispers and hints of the things
That must fill up the pack that old Santa Claus brings
And the mother's all smiles as she thinks of the cheer
That shall come with the happiest day of the year.
And I, when it's Christmas—well say this for me—
I'm just as contented as mortal can be.

I like nothing better than all of the fuss
The coming of Christmas time shoulders on us;
There's something about it that banishes care,
And cures discontentment and comforts despair.
Just hearing them whisper their secrets at night
And chuckle and giggle sets everything right.
I puff on my pipe and I sit there and smile
And vow that this happy old world is worth while.

The scamper of feet is a joy to my ear
As they fly with their treasures when I'm drawing near.
The labor of trimming the home for the day
Isn't labor at all, but magnificent play.
The planning surprises, and writing the list
Of the friends that we love so that they shall be missed.
And tasks to which somehow my soul seems to run,
For it finds real delight in the work to be done.

Let some who will frown at the fuss that is made,
And grumble and growl at the bills to be paid;
Let the Scrooges who practice the wisdom of thrift
Count sadly the money they spend for a gift
And picture the folly of scattering cheer,
I answer each sigh and I answered each sneer
By saying: "When Christmas sets all eyes aglow, Getting ready for it is the best fun I know!"

ratified for a full year longer, in order to give politicians something to fight about?

Most of us, probably an overwhelming majority, desire an early compromise. There is no danger that American rights will be put in jeopardy by the treaty. President Wilson's strongest supporters in the senate are willing to approve of reservations that cover the ground, so further talk of the need to fight for "Americanization" is hollow.

What we all, or nearly all of us, crave is the adoption of the treaty without trimmings that breathe bumptiousness, and careless insolence in every line.

Backward Glimpses

FORTY YEARS AGO

Dec. 2, 1879.—Trinity church choir is doing efficient work. It is composed of Messrs. Cookins, Conant, and the Misses Griswold and Josslyn. William Chase, New Mexico, arrived in this city last evening. He is the brother of Mrs. J. B. Hizer. The meeting of the Mutual Improvement club last evening was devoted to discussion. Sketches From Life :- By Temple

"It's John!"

Abe on His Pedestal

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Soon the Washington tourist will have another place to tour. The rubber-neck, errand, and the encyclopedic man with the megaphone will have to add a place to his list of things to see. The Lincoln memorial is nearing completion, and it will be open to the public ere another crop of June brides has inspired in the shadow of the capital.

The memorial itself is all done except for the placing of Abe's statue upon its pedestal, and that enterprise will be under way before this is in print. It is a gigantic task, for Abe comes in 28 pieces, by freight, and he weighs about 42 tons. To put him together correctly without breaking any of his component parts is the last and the most delicate task connected with the erection of the memorial.

There is about this latest of Washington buildings a bigness and a grandeur which is sorely satisfying. It is great stuff, alike for the tourist and for the megaphone orator. Beginning at the beginning, the great building stands upon "made" land, which was once a part of the Potomac river, and that the piles which support it to be sunk in a hole, and that they struck bed rock. He will go on to explain that in order to make it show up as it should, the building had to be placed on a foundation 30 feet above the ground level, and that the beautifully sloping hill was afterwards built around the foundation, while the building in order to reflect its image and make it look taller. In a word, he will explain that the Fine Arts commission, having selected the worst possible site for such a building, proceeded to accomplish wonders in making it serve its purpose, and that what was really built is a tower about 150 feet high, two-thirds of which is buried.

Paintings Largest Ever.
He will then go on to explain that the paintings on the walls of the building are among the largest pictures that were ever painted anywhere by anybody. Jules Guerin, who painted them, had to build a special studio in New York for the job, because the pictures are 60 feet long and 12 feet wide. The canvases upon which they are painted are 100 pounds before the pictures were made, and about half that weight of paint was put onto them. Mr. Guerin, heretofore only known as the painter of the work himself, even to the painting of flat surfaces which might have been done by an apprentice.

Lincoln Is Made Hero.
The effort, and the result, has been, not to give us a better understanding or clearer perception of the man, but to defy him, or at least to convert him into a legendary hero, like King Arthur, or Santa Claus. The thing inspires, and has inspired, many men, but by many troubles, but the awe which we associate with the supernatural. It does not bring us closer to Lincoln, but removes him to celestial heights.

This in accordance with the best American traditions. We make fun of our great men while they live, and only after they are dead. We never understand them. The Washington of the high school histories is too perfect for human sympathy. You have to dig into little known documents to discover that he was a judge of good liquor and bet on cock fights. In like manner the Benjamin Franklin that we all know about was simply too thrifty, too wise and too virtuous to live, and only few students are aware that he was a bold and fellow among the girls, and the greatest of all American hypocrisies.

So now good old Abe, the most human of them all, who could outdo any drummer at telling funny stories, who liked homely surroundings and old clothes, is set up like a Greek god in a great marble hall, endowed with an expression of supernatural solemnity, and deprived even of the spittoon which in life he found so indispensable.

Then He Remembers East.
Returning once more to the store of facts which the megaphone enlightener will be able to draw, it may be added that the Appropriations bill for the building was passed in 1911, and that work upon it was actually begun in 1914, while its total cost was $2,694,000 and some odd cents. It is really didn't take so long to build it, but various interruptions occurred. Some of those were occasioned by the engineering. Nothing was done along this line so far except to ask congress for $5,000, whereupon to defray the expenses. But it is a foregone conclusion that the occasion will be an auspicious one for orators, an expensive one for visitors, a profitable one for Washington inn-keepers, and an inspiring and impressive one for everybody.

Nothing ever the same again when your overcoat above him's begin to wear out. The difference between a salaried man and a hod carrier is that one desires a raise and the other demands it.

END OF THE SEASON.

No more
Doth summer revelry resound
While fierce mosquitoes hover round
No more
The show
Whence gore
Is for the asking to be had,
The season, be it sad or glad,
It's o'er.

No more
Do noisy kids their lungs expand,
Or play the piano with one hand.
No more
Or pour
Sand down your back in merry chaft,
And seem surprised when you don't laugh
And roar.

No more
Will the gay rustic raconteur
Tell yarns and still have some, to spare
The bore!

Our eager gaze October shows
Some hope that on such woes we'll close
The door.

HOLSTEIN BREEDER SAYS HIGH PRICES IMPROVE CATTLE

High prices for cattle feed is doing much to improve the quality of cattle in Wisconsin, and in the whole country, this is the contradictory statement was a reporter today by D. D. president of the National Live Stock Breeders' association, who is in the city to address a meeting of the Rock county branch of the organization.

Explaining his remark, President Altkorn said that cattlemen have been forced to realize that if they want to make any profits with prices for grain at abnormally high rates they no longer can afford to underfeed their stock. Cutting down on the amount of feed given a cow, he said, never was good for the industry nor for the animal, and now with prices so high the breeder would hurt his stock greatly by trying to make up for the increase by taking it out of his animal. Therefore, he finds that no must keep his stock fatter than ever to get the full benefit from them, and by doing so his stock naturally is improving.

"Ultimately it will react to educate the cattle-men to a knowledge that this is the only way to raise cattle," he said.

Members of the Rock county association gathered in town just before noon. The extremely cold weather delayed railroad and automobile travel to such an extent that only 16 were present at the dinner held at noon at the Hotel Tanager. As a result, the meeting scheduled for 1 o'clock at the City Hall for the election of officers and to listen to an address on the association organization by President Altkorn was delayed until after 2:30.

R. C. Pollack, national publicity agent for the Holstein-Friesian breeders association, addressed the gathering on the advisability of getting more breeders to join the organization.

Mr. F. E. Everson of Lake Mills; Mr. Voss, Elkhorn; Mr. Grabill, a farm implement manufacturer; and J. T. Hooper, State School for the Blind, were the other speakers. H. C. Fonderer and M. N. Stafford, county agents from Jennings, La., here to buy Holsteins for their home state, were present at the meeting.

PROSPERITY CAUSES MORE LAW SUITS, SAYS JUDGE GRIMM

The wave of prosperity that has swept the country for the last few years has caused an increase in law suits and at the present calendar of the November term of the circuit court is larger than for many years past, said Judge George Grimm yesterday.

He declared that he believed it would take at least two weeks longer to dispose of jury cases.

In an effort to speed up the work of the court, the judge yesterday sought to have parties to settle outside. His success in the case of Emily Simpson against the Wilcox company, a suit brought by the plaintiff for damages to her land caused by the excavations made by the Wilcox engineers on adjacent territory along the lower Rock river.

The jury was waived in the cases of Lucy Hunt against James F. Hunt, for divorce, and A. M. Hull versus John W. Goldthorpe.

Today trial is taking place in the matter of the Trustees of Janesville Community and State Bank against Warner for failure to vacate premises owned by the former.

Cases which are next on the calendar are William B. Smith versus Riley; T. D. Woolsey and W. H. Arnold versus E. R. Branigan; A. C. James versus D. G. Torrist; et al; Eliza J. Bakcr versus W. J. Hord; and D. W. Briggs versus John E. Kennedy.

Joint Savings Accounts

In opening a savings account it is often advisable and convenient to arrange for two persons to draw upon it. This can easily be done when so desired.

A man and his wife, for example, may have a joint account on which each may make withdrawals as well as deposits. In case of death of either party the joint account saves the necessity of court proceedings before the account can be drawn.

We shall be glad to tell you about the joint savings account plan more in detail upon request.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I can't help answering an article in your column signed "Elizabeth Thompson." I am a girl seven years old. I have no mother now any one to tell me right from wrong, but have learned this from experience. This world has been unkind to me and I have had many hard knocks, but I feel there is a better day coming.

I know both classes of boys and girls, those who insist upon the baser forms of love and those who enjoy each other just for their companionship. If you will but notice, the boy or girl who does not indulge in pre-matrimonial love making, in later years gets more respect from other people. This is not just preaching, but it is from the hearts of the boys and girls of the poor misguided girls. ELAINE S.

It is encouraging to get your letter. I like to be reminded that there are girls like me, who are not very good looking and are large and who enjoy father objects to his coming and said he was coming against father's will. He said he would not have us quit, but if he married me, I would never come to see me or help me if I do not get along all right. I do not want to tell my friend what my father said, for I love him and I

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

I do not know where this is going to lead us—my insistence upon continuing my work, and doing it at Athena's house, since I cannot work at home, with Mother Salisbury at my elbow every moment. One thing I determined upon, and have thus far practiced, and that is to keep cheerful.

Amiability, I begin to think, is the strongest weapon of all that are given us to fight life's battles with. The strongest lances of anger break against it. Grouches melt before it. Opposition loses its force when it meets it. Even a husband's cold disapproval grows less rigid in its sunny rays. And as for the amiable person herself, she is gilded with courage and cheered with hope. Today is the first day that I could not force myself to present a carefree exterior. My whole being seems to plead for a headache tonight, and when Jim decided to go to his club I tried not to agree too eagerly. I have now been each night a week at Athena's apartment and done my work in the cubbyhole room she fitted up for me, bless her friendly heart.

On Tuesday of the days Eric Sands has been there. Once he came to lunch, with Peter Landis, and Athena made me stay. The next day he came and he had quite finished my daily dose of letters answering the loveletters, the discouraged, the perplexed, the oppressed and the oppressed. He is the motley crowd that writes to its favorite magazine for lack of a better confidant. The third time was today. This morning the first words I said since Eric came from England.

"Ann, does my presence disturb or embarrass you?" he asked me, with arresting frankness.

"I think it does both a little," I answered, wanting to be truthful.

Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Well-known names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail. If written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

Long centuries ago we barbers were all doctors and we doctors were all barbers. We doctors knew just as much as the barbers knew about the treatment of the ill flesh was to become hair to later in history. We bled people for everything. Today we still bleed them for nothing more than a shave or a prescription, as the case may be.

A barber's wife takes me to task for picking on the barbers and ignoring those doctors who neglect personal appearance. The sanitation of their offices and homes.

The woman's wrath is righteous there. I mean to pick on the barber surgeons of today.

A barber cuts your hair or shaves your jaw and he is all through. A barber surgeon wants to treat you for baldness, dandruff, eczema, can-

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.
Chestnut and Noelle Loaf—One cup of blanched chestnuts, one-half cup seeded raisins, three tablespoons melted butter, noodles, one egg, one-quarter teaspoon of salt, seven-eighths cup of flour. Beat eggs slightly. Add flour and salt sifted until dough is stiff. Knead a few minutes on a floured board until the dough is elastic. Roll very thin and let stand half an hour. Cut with a sharp knife as desired.

Cook in salted water for fifteen minutes. Drain and add raisins and butter. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake slowly one hour.

Glazed sweet potatoes, one-half medium-sized sweet potatoes, one-half cup sugar, four tablespoons water, one tablespoon oil.

Wash and peel the potatoes, cook ten minutes in boiling salted water. Drain, cut in halves lengthwise and put in buttered baking pan. Make a syrup of boiling five minutes one-half cup sugar and four tablespoons of water. Add one tablespoon of oil. Brush the potatoes with the syrup and bake for fifteen or twenty minutes, basting twice with remaining syrup.

FOR THE YOUNG HOUSEWIFE.
Fish—Keep and cool. Many varieties of fish are stored near the door, so do not put fish into the box, unless in a tightly-covered dish. Cans—Keep in a cool place. Canned ones, dirty ones spoil quickly. Coolness delays spoilage. Do not wash an egg until just before using; the water removes a coating on the shell which hinders micro-organisms from getting into the contents.

Fats and Oils—Store in the dark. Keep cool, clean and covered. Remember that butter absorbs flavors.

Dry Groceries—Keep dry and clean; protect against vermin. The flavor of tea, coffee and spices is injured by heat and moisture; therefore, store them in air tight containers. Roasted coffee, especially when ground, loses flavor rapidly if it does not lay in a large stock unless you can roast and grind it at home. The fat in chocolate may turn rancid, so keep it cool and do not shut it up airtight, especially in hot weather or when it is filled with fresh bread. Perforate the top of the tin cover.

TO TRAIN HOUSEKEEPERS.
White Plains, N. Y.—Society women of Westchester county have begun a campaign to meet the shortage of help by training, housekeepers, maids and other domestic workers under their supervision. The girls will be paid regular wages while learning and the course will be a complete domestic science study.

Meet College Drive Quota.
Neenah—While exact figures are not yet obtainable, Jim is stated on authority that both the cities of Neenah and Menasha went over the top in the drive for funds for Wisconsin colleges. Neenah's quota was $12,000, with Menasha's a little lower.

The Wassermann Blood Test.
Is a Wassermann blood test a certain test for syphilis? Might a negative result be obtained where the person really has the disease? Of the Wassermann test cannot be relied upon, is there a test that can? (P. O. R.)

ANSWER—The Wassermann test is not a certain or fallible test, merely a corroborator of the doctor's opinion. A negative reaction is often obtained in a case of undoubted syphilis, especially after a course of vigorous treatment. The Wassermann test is the most nearly infallible test we have, other than the opinion of the physician, which is always the important criterion. You would be foolish to rely upon the Wassermann test alone, without regard for the opinion of the physician who knows the history of the case and the patient's present condition. The Wassermann test may be positive in conditions other than syphilis, although the physician would rarely have difficulty in ruling out other conditions.

Careful Providers Are Using Troco

Not alone because it saves them 25 to 40 cents on every pound. That would be negligible if Troco were not a real luxury—delicious, nutritious and satisfying.

Troco is made from the two great food essentials of the Tropic and Temperate Zones. The dainty nut fat extracted from the white meat of fresh coconuts, is churned with sterilized milk. Troco flavor is inimitable.

Troco is churned and shipped every day, on ice, to insure its freshness and sweetness. If your dealer will order frequently and keep his stock in the ice box, your Troco will come to your table in all its original freshness and sweetness, just as it comes from the churn. If you have trouble in getting Troco in perfect condition, write direct to the Troco Nut Butter Company, Chicago.

We are obliged to label Troco "oleomargarine," because of old laws, enacted before this nut-made food was invented. Law also denies us the right to color in churning. Do you consider such a disadvantage fair? Write your congressman about it.

COLLEGES TO FORM 'INTEREST' CHAPTERS

Late reports from headquarters of the Wisconsin College Associated, Milwaukee, state that the recent campaign has netted $1,000,000, which will be distributed between the nine privately endowed institutions in this state.

In consideration of the loyalty that has been shown in the work of the nine associated colleges a plan has been submitted for conserving and continuing this interest. The plan is to organize local chapters in all cities, groups of smaller communities in a county school district or township. The purpose would be to maintain the interest and loyalty and to continue college funds for the support of the nine colleges.

Tours to each chapter by distinguished guests in the state, an annual visit to each chapter by the college presidents group, a close knowledge of the collegiate world through the local chapter, the staging of feature nights such as a visit of a college glee club, debating club, and the staging of athletic events, will comprise the benefits to be derived. Important state information will be mailed to all members of the chapters who are on the roster at state headquarters.

All contributors in the recent campaign for funds, alumni students and members of the alumni will automatically become members of the chapter in their community. Membership cards in the chapter will be issued.

Preliminary plans for the organization of such chapters are under discussion in various communities at the present time. It is understood that interested workers in this city are to meet in the near future.

Coal Shortage Foretold.

Neenah—Local industries have apparently foretold an otherwise serious situation by laying in supplies of coal sufficient to keep the wheels running for some time to come should the present fuel famine continue. One retail dealer here has resorted to the rationing plan of "one ton per customer," while others report they have ample stocks on hand for present needs but are unable to place orders for any more. The public schools are plentifully supplied with coal and will not feel the pinch of the shortage until along in January, if the strike lasts that long. It was stated.

NIGHT CLASSES IN UNIVERSITY COURSES

Under new arrangements made known yesterday, night classes in any of the courses provided for ex-service men under the correspondence plan of the University of Wisconsin, as an extra bonus, may now be taken in Janesville with an instructor from the university. If 15 men make application for the subject.

A class is now in formation under this scheme in accounting. Thirteen men already have signed up and as soon as the other two have been procured the class will be started. It is probable that sessions will be held at the Vocational School. Men who want to take in this class should make application at the Gazette at once.

To get such a class under way, the following form should be followed by the men in making application. This plan might easily be followed in concern where 15 or more men are employed and are willing to club together. Arrangements for such classes may be made through this newspaper.

This is the form to be followed:
We, the undersigned ex-service men, complying with the terms of the Educational Bonus Law, section 3726 of chapter 5, laws of the special session, 1919, petition for the privilege of taking the evening course in—offered by the University Extension Division. The class is to meet—evenings per week for—weeks.

Large interest was displayed today by ex-service men in the educational advantages being offered them through the University of Wisconsin in placing correspondence courses before them. This plan, which acts as an extra bonus given by the state, places 400 courses adapted to almost all classes of needs before the men and women who served in the World War, and costs them absolutely nothing.

Application blanks may be procured at the Gazette office, together with more information telling how those who have had small advantages may take advantage of the courses fitted to their needs, especially if they are engaged in the essential occupations.

Retailing.
Take retailing for instance. The number of people engaged in retail business is second only to agriculture. The successful retailer is no longer merely a storekeeper; he is a salesman in all that the word implies. The successful clerk is no longer an order-taker, but a salesman with all that name implies.

Competition is constantly growing more severe; the inefficient retailer and easy-going clerk is finding his path a hard one; he is making way for the man who has given to his business the same careful study that must be given to any business if it is to be successful. It is this fact that sustains the offering of courses of instruction in various phases of retail business. The following subjects provide, in orderly, logical form, the collective experience of many men in many retail lines of business.

Retail Selling.
The purpose of this course is to help the retail salesman sell more goods—to increase his personal efficiency by showing him the lines along which the successful salesman must develop. The course is intensely practical. It is full of suggestions, hints, and methods that can be applied at once in the everyday work of selling over the counter.

The fundamental problems of retail selling; the qualities of successful salesmen; analyzing the goods; methods of demonstration of goods; how to study people; steps in a sale; special problems in selling; losses and leaks in retailing; the display of goods; store decoration, store fixtures, and window trimming; relation of salesman to his house and to the public.

Store Management.
The first six assignments are the same as the six assignments of the course in Retail Selling and Store Management is a treatise on efficiency in retailing. It is bound in a convenient folder so that it can be filed away for future reference.

The business of retailing is described in detail in the course, and the economic basis is considered. Current tendencies are outlined, and fundamental necessities of the business world are emphasized. The course is a complete, scientific management in retailing; the four chief departments and their functions; store policies; efficiency; methods of cost selling; buying; retail advertising; retail credits and collections; relation of the store to its sales people and to the public.

Retail Advertising.
Rapid stock turnovers are generally acknowledged to be a requisite of successful business. The proper kind of advertising will increase the volume of business in many stores with a proportionate increase in running expenses.

This course gives the merchant practical instruction in working out his advertising problems. He must analyze his goods and his prospective customers in order to find in what uses of the goods the public will be interested. He must tell the story of his goods in an interesting and intelligent manner in order to arouse the desire of those who can use his goods. He must select the medium (newspaper, sales letter, circular, etc.) which will most effectively carry his message to the public.

Merchants will find the course in retail advertising helpful in solving these problems. It is profusely illustrated with specimen advertising materials which serve to make doubly clear the practices described.

The nature of advertising; definition of a selling point; writing the advertisement; the headlines and the subhead; the layout type, measurements, border and illustrations; the relative importance of each; large space; planning the whole retail advertising campaign; a discussion of other forms of advertising medium; the sales letter; outlining for a mail order campaign; window display; correlating all the sales efforts of the retail store.

LOCAL LEGION POST MEETING TONIGHT

With the spirit of the service men crystallized in the American Legion full organization of the Richard Ellis Post of Janesville is hoped for at the mass meeting to be held in the city hall Tuesday night.

Post officers are hoping to have an assembly of service men representative and large enough to swing the local post as one of the largest in Wisconsin. While the post has already enough charter members for full organization, it is hoped to bring every person eligible under the Legion policies into the Janesville post.

An urgent call is sounded for every man or woman who was in the United States military or naval service before the signing of the armistice to attend this meeting. Charter memberships will be available under the rules demanded by the national convention. The membership committee of the Richard Ellis post says it doesn't want a hundred members—it wants every person eligible to be a member, which would number over a thousand.

The Legion views and future policies are no longer intangible following the Minneapolis convention. They have been created into a foundation for an organization to policies—politics—extending from local to state to national administration.

There is no question as to the desires of the service men, said chairman of the local membership committee. They all intend to join. There is no disposition or tendency not to join, but there is rather an indifference in actually signing as a member. The Legion is new, its policies and future have not been generally understood. But since the national convention they are down in black and white under the principle of "America for Americans."

One hundred percent Americanism was defined and written in every act of the national convention. It's up to the local post to carry through this program with the full backing of all the service men—not merely a group of them.

Janesville is waking up to the fact that it is going to be a greater city. There could be no greater influence than that of a service men. They represent the men and women who served in the times of stress and likewise represent a force which should have a voice as to the policies—not politics—of the future Janesville.

There is before the Legion a problem of re-adjustment of matters relating to benefits for the service men. At no time did the Legion ask for charity, but its advice on legislation was sound and based on equity both to the government and to themselves.

"The Legion has not set a cash price on its service, but they do expect, and are going to get, an honest adjustment. There are various recommendations for benefits in which every service man or woman is vitally interested. That interest is evidenced and brought to a voice through membership. If congress passes national legislation, the service men it will be through the Legion and it will be the Legion members who gain the most benefits. That is why every service man or woman of Rock county should go through Tuesday night with their intention of becoming members, for delay is not accomplishing anything.

But above everything else is the fact that through the American Legion, "One Hundred Percent Americanism" has ceased to be a phrase and is now a living force. Janesville is going to need that force as much as any other community."

The meeting Tuesday night in the city hall has been called by Post officers. Meeting for 8 o'clock. There will be "chow," and according to the mess sergeant for the occasion, "it ain't going to be 'corn-bill' or 'slum.'" All service men who have signed or are interested in the Legion are urged to attend.

Lunches Served at School.
Eau Claire.—Hot cocoa and a hot dish will be served for 3 to 5 cents to students of the high school at noon. The teacher of the domestic science department discovered 60 students forlornly munching their cold lunches on the dusty running track and saw in their need a chance to enable her senior girls to cook in large quantities. Meat pie, vegetable soup, macaroni and cheese and scalloped potato are among dishes served at what is meant to be cost.

Last week $2.13 was gained which will be turned back into the lunches. A teacher of the seventh grade found on inquiry that seven out of eight of her girl students came without breakfast and the condition is worse in high school, where students come long distances from the city and country and have to start early.

BURMAN OUTPOINTS DUNDEE AT RACINE; MAY APPEAR HERE

Racine, Wis., Dec. 2.—Winning seven out of ten rounds and pulling down two Joe Burman, bantamweight of Chicago, easily outpointed Mike Dundee, local fighter, here last night. In only one round, here last night, did Dundee show any class. In that he put up such a cocky exhibition of boxing that the fans felt themselves well repaid for braving the zero weather.

Janesville fight promoters are endeavoring to book Joe Burman to show here at the opera house during December. Negotiations are now in progress and are looked upon favorably, according to reports, by the bantam. It has not yet been made known to whom he will box. Dundee, caused by time necessary for incorporating a local boxing club, have caused postponement of the opening of the boxing season here.

J. M. Co. Forfeits Game to Parts Stock

Failure to show up last night at the West Side alley to play a scheduled game with the Parts Stock in the Samson Bowling league tournament cost the Janesville Milling Co. a game.

AMERICAN LEAGUE FIGHT IS GROWING; TAKEN UP IN COURT

New York, Dec. 2.—The fight against Joe Johnson's tactics, who is endeavoring to hold a meeting of the American Baseball League all by his lonesome in Chicago in opposition to the regular meeting, is growing. Yesterday the argument in court for an injunction was postponed because Stephen Johnson, Johnson's attorney, was busy on other legal matters, but Charles A. Comiskey, proprietor of the Chicago White Sox, arrived here today to complete plans against the "boss."

Outlining his defense against the injunction, Johnson said: "Before issuing the call for the meeting I consulted the club owners, and five of them favored Chicago. Our annual meeting has been held here continuously since 1912 and always has been called by the president. The constitution fixes the time but does not name the place. It does not confer authority to issue the call on either the president or directors, but I have always done so after determining the wishes of the majority of the club owners."

"Why the three directors wish to hold the annual meeting in New York, I do not understand, as it is much more convenient to convene in the city where the league's offices are located. I understand the directors have asked to see various papers, documents and records of the league. They can have free access to all of them in my offices, but it would entail much inconvenience to transport them to New York and back."

He also mentioned himself in his statement. Comiskey delivered himself of the following: "I was informed by the New York club that it planned to obtain an injunction to restrain Johnson from holding the annual meeting of the league here, but could say nothing about it until the petition was filed. There is nothing to say about it at this time other than that the New York club undoubtedly means to protect its property, and if an injunction of the league is to be held and business disposed of it desires that all clubs be present."

Johnson's defense against the injunction, Johnson said: "Before issuing the call for the meeting I consulted the club owners, and five of them favored Chicago. Our annual meeting has been held here continuously since 1912 and always has been called by the president. The constitution fixes the time but does not name the place. It does not confer authority to issue the call on either the president or directors, but I have always done so after determining the wishes of the majority of the club owners."

THE FRONT

So you have seen the real front? You haven't—not a chance—Not anywhere in Belgium Nor Italy nor France.

It wasn't shell and wire That aching line of red—

The true front? The real front? Where a mother's heart has bled!

They write about the real front From Alsace to the sea.

A lot of names of towns and hills—All Greek to you and me.

She read the towns, she read the names, Then one name ringed in red—

The real front? The true front? Where a mother's heart has bled!

If you want to find the real front Don't look on any map.

Just ask that gaunt-eyed woman With the picture in her lap:

Now in Flanders and the Argonne Quiet crosses watch the dead—

Only God can raise the crosses Where the mothers' hearts have bled.

The man
